

We would like to invite you to three days training sessions about MISP (Malware Information Sharing Platform & Threat Sharing) and AIL (modular framework to analyse potential information leaks).

This is an opportunity for the users to meet the developers and exchange about potential improvements or use-cases using MISP as a threat-intelligence platform. Second day of the training is designed for developers and advanced users. Last day will be presented AIL – modular framework to analyse potential information leaks from unstructured data sources.

The training (Prague, Sept 17 - 19, 2019, 9am-5pm) is for free.

Please confirm your interest with the attached questionnaire (by QR code).

We will send you details then.
